

THE STALL STREET JOURNAL

[ UWF LIBRARIES ]

Volume 8 Issue 2

“The Quickest Way from Q to A”

November 2012

Disappointed Leprechauns, or: One of Our Favorite People Give a Talk!

Are you interested in Old StuffTM? Yeah? Well, it's about to get all Archaic in the Mosaic, if you know what I'm sayin'. And I think you do! Dr. Marie-Therese Champagne is going to come talk to us about medieval manuscripts, and all of you—every single last one-- are welcome and invited all cordial-like with sugar plums and rainbows with pots full of old at the end*. Because no sir! We don't do cliques here in the library. Everybody knows the handshake: fist pump, elbow strike, wave, and pinch. So bring yourselves. Come as you are.**

And because she is what I like to call a Super Sport of the Extreme Rare Precious VarietyTM, she has titled her talk with a hint of fall and barnyard in the air:

“Looking for a Needle in the Haystack: Searching for Clues in Medieval Manuscripts”***

Dr. Marie-Therese Champagne
Thursday, November 15th - 2:30
1st Floor Library Classroom (Rm. 123)

*See what I did there?

**Well, no. Not as you are right now.

*** “Looking for Love in All the RIGHT Places” was ultimately rejected as a title (but a close second).

Learning Equals Good and other equations.

Join us for an evening with Dr. Mohammad Karim, Vice President of Research at Old Dominion University, presenting a lecture “First Experiment & Beyond.” He will explore the progression of science and technology across time, continents, and communities paying particular attention to the role of immigrants in that progression, including Africans, American Muslims, East Asians, and Indians. We are proud to partner with the UWF Bangladeshi Student Association, the UWF Muslim Student Association, and the Islamic Center of Northwest Florida to sponsor this event.

Thursday, November 15th
7:00pm in the UWF Conference Center
Admission is FREE and dinner will be provided*

*I said, “Admission is FREE and dinner will be provided!” Hip hip!

Up! All! Night! Just Like Gilbert Gottfried!

Did you know starting Sunday after Thanksgiving we are going to stay open 24 hours for 5 days a week to get you ready for finals!?!? Heck yeah, boyz. Picture it: you are in your elastic pants on Thanksgiving and you suddenly remember this good news and you think to yourself, “I don't have to change! I like to sleep in these pants! I like to sleep in these pants in the library and I like to smell like gravy!” To each his own! To each her own, even! If you do a faceplant on your books whilst you're studying and begin to snore and the tryptophan* gets in the air and we all start drooling and falling asleep, well, that's okay. I've forewarned folks. Bring it!

*For the record, I do not believe the effects from tryptophan can be transmitted via air. I can't help the gravy smells, however

Send questions, comments, and giblets to Britt McGowan at bmcgowan@uwf.edu

University of West
Florida Libraries

Library Hours
Fall 2012 Semester

Monday, November 12th
CLOSED
in observance of Veteran's Day

Thursday, November 22nd through
Saturday, November 24th
CLOSED
for Thanksgiving

Sunday, November 25th begins 3 weeks of 24/5 hours for FINALS

Cookie Night
Tuesday, November 20th!

Library Lock-In...Coming Soon!*

*Consider that a teaser, mang!