What Makes the Front Pages?
Documenting What Course Syllabi Say About Information Literacy

The Library Reviewed Each and Every Syllabi!

The University of West Florida Libraries, along with the UWF Center for Teaching, Learning, and Assessment (and the help of four graduate students!), conducted a comprehensive syllabus review of all 1153 undergraduate courses in a term in order to identify those with information literacy components.

Description of Assignment

- Bibliography: 17%
- Annotated Bibliography: 5.4%
- Term Paper with References: 23.1%
- Research Paper Reporting Data Analysis (Statistical Data): 25.3%
- Book Report or Review, Journal Summary/Analysis: 10.5%
- Case Analysis/Case Study: 6.7%
- Poster Presentation: 1.1%
- Reflective Paper: 11.4%
- Class Presentation: 13.5%
- Digital Communication: 26.9%
- Other: 5.4%

Information Literacy SL/Os Related to the 5 ACRL Standards

1. Identifying the Information Need
2. Accessing the Information
3. Evaluating the Information
4. Using Information ethically
5. Creating the Information

Percentage of Syllabi (n=1153)

HOROSCOPES

Aries
March 27th, 2015

Increased faculty collaboration is the key for you. The secret to your success is align your heart with magnetic Mars. You are motivated to create a new vision, and it appears your efforts will soon be rewarded.

SPONSORSHIP

College of Arts, Social Sciences, & Humanities

College of Education & Professional Studies

College of Science, Engineering, & Health

College of Business